Seasonal Frost Harms Few Tender Vegetables But Is Beneficial To Leaf Crops

Most Potatoes Busted Planted Back Little Damage to Pasture

A twenty-five year record of frosts in the Glades shows that come December 10th normally one or more heavy frosts may be expected in the outlying areas away from the Lake, so the frost of this week only surprised those not acquainted with Glades agriculture.

Some fields of beans close in were nipped, and some carried on the books of the farmer as of problematical destiny were affected by the frost.

Only slight damage to the more tender grasses such as par, pangola and Casb was reported, with a slight night in the past St. Augustine tips.

Bamie leaves in the Shawano drainage district were frosted, as is to be expected at this time of year.

Some escarole is reported to have been damaged slightly by the cold, with ice being reported in one or two fields. Generally the cabbage were helped in the heading processes by the cold weather, as is lettuce and other leaf crops.

No serious damage to the early corn has been reported as we go to press.

The cold weather naturally slows up the growth of most vegetation, and Glades farmers normally plan for such at this time of the year.

Weeds and insects were affected by the cold, which is a boon to the Glades farmer.

They also agreed to observe the following holidays for closing New Year's, Easter, Good Friday, July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The merchants recently held meeting at the Chamber of Commerce office and decided in favor of not closing during funerals.

FLORIDA PRODUCES 65% OF NATION'S PHOSPHATE
Phosphate, the most important Florida mineral, sold for a total of $51,541,799 at the mines last year.
Sales of Florida phosphate in 1952 amounted to 8,871,125 long tons, more by 3 percent, in both value and volume, than in 1951. The Florida sales were more than triple the 1940 figure, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce stated recently.

In 1940, Florida produced 65 percent of the national volume of phosphate. By 1951, 1952 and 1953 Florida share was up to 77 percent. Phosphate is also produced in Tennessee, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Wyoming.

Approximately one hundred thousand tons, valued at $2,400,000, were imported from foreign countries in 1952.

Use of Florida phosphate in 1952 are shown in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. Sixty-eight percent of production went into the manufacture of superphosphates, used principally as fertilizer; 13 percent was exported; and 19 percent was applied directly to the soil as a conditioner. The remaining 9 percent was consumed in the manufacture of phosphoric acid, feed phosphorus and related compounds and in stock and poultry feeds.

Production of uranium from phosphate processing wastes, the newest use of this important mineral, is getting underway.

Years Of Work In Glades Results In Marked Improvement In Venereals

Harvey Paine being honored by a presentation of Award for years of service in directing the State Board of Health's campaign against venereal disease among the negro population of the Glades. In addition to Chairmanship of the local Committee, administrative details, investigations, follow-up and education were among the duties of Harvey's Committee.

Venereal disease — the giant in Florida's communicable disease picture — has lost considerable stature in the last 10 years. In 1942, Florida led the nation with a syphilis rate of 405.9 for each 1,000 Negro men examined for selective service; ranked third with a rate of 53.3 for White men examined, and second with a combined rate of 158.8. Even as late as July 1952, Florida ranked third in the nation in the total syphilis cases reported. Yet the problem of venereal disease in the State has shown a steady decline, reported Dr. William A. Walter of the State Board of Health's Bureau of Preventable Diseases. In 1943, a total of 33,601 previously untreated cases of syphilis were reported. Last year the total was down to 10,624 and indications are that this year will show a similar trend.

In addition to the decline in total syphilis reported, there has been an even sharper reduction in the number of early infectious cases. This number has been reduced from 3,483 in 1943 to 785 last year and should drop even further this year. This marked decline in the number of cases discovered in the communicable stage is heartening to public officials, said Dr. Walter, for in reducing this stage of the disease, the latent reservoirs which harbor candidates for the mental illness and thousands of incapacitated economic burdens, are prevented from increasing.

This goal is being brought closer to realization, reported the doctor, as evidenced by the following figures: In 1943, almost 15 percent of the total admissions to mental institutions in Florida were due to syphilis of the brain and nervous system. This figure has been steadily declining and today, 10 years later, is less than 6 percent.

Other yardsticks on the effect of the venereal disease control program are: Deaths attributed to syphilis have dropped from 399 in 1943 to 149 in 1952. Deaths due to syphilis in children under one year are down from 28 to 3 for the same period. Probably the single most important development in the venereal disease control program was the advent of penicillin in the treatment of syphilis and gonorrhea in 1943. Since penicillin was first proved to be the most effective and practical drug for the treatment of these two diseases, it has been developed to the point where today penicillin can be cured with one injection and almost all syphilis cases require only three injections to be completely cured.

The most pressing need in venereal disease control today, according to Dr. Walter, is finding cases early before they become sources of infection. To accomplish this, communicable disease specialists working out of county health departments spend most of their time interviewing patients with venereal disease, getting from them the names of persons with whom they have been in intimate contact and bringing these contacts to examination and treatment by health departments and private physicians.

The most prevalent venereal disease in Florida and the nation is gonorrhea. The number of cases has been reduced from 18,897 in 1943 to 11,809 last year.

The three other venereal diseases in order of prevalence and reduction in cases over the past 10 years are, chancroid, from 844 to 462; granular inguinal, from 253 to 204; lymphogranuloma venereum, from 254 to 120.

SLOW DRIVERS FRODED

The Florida Highway Patrol is still dead set against the speeder whose highway behavior causes the most deaths, but Comdr. H. N. Kirkman wants the slow driver prodded along for safety's sake.

Kirkman said recently that he has sent orders down the line for state troopers to speed up the slowpoke driver who causes a traffic bottleneck, rolls monotonically along, more often than not is never involved in the wreck he might cause.

Complaints come into state headquarters almost every week from irate motorists who have trailed behind a long line of autos while some slowpoke held up the normal flow of traffic. The patrol is going to accelerate its activities against the lag along driver under a state law which makes it a violation to travel so slowly that movement of traffic along the highway is impeded.

"The action of the slow driver is developing into one of our grave problems on Florida highways," said Kirkman. "A slowpoke is seldom involved in an accident, although he may contribute indirectly to many."

The slow driver can cause accidents when impatient motorists try to pass and side-swipe another auto, or have head-on collisions trying to pass a bottleneck of traffic on a busy highway.

"You hardly ever hear of a slowpoke being involved in a wreck, but they are causing more and more concern," declared Kirkman.

The patrol is going to continue its crackdown on motorists who exceed the lawful 60 miles per hour in the daytime and 50 at night, but it wants the 20 mile per hour drivers on congested highways to move on or get off.

CHRISTMAS
HEADQUARTERS

LOCATED at 181 Ave. A NEXT TO SULLIVAN'S PHARMACY Belle Glade, Fla.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
December 5, 1933, just 20 years ago, Uncle Sam, who was feeling mighty low at the time, climbed down off the wagon, threw away his white ribbon and poured himself a good stiff shot of honest, legal, lawful liquor. That date marked the repeal of prohibition and the beginning of a new era in the nation's history.

The old boy uttered a deep sigh of relief for he was plenty fed up with cane skimming, moonshine, bath tub gin, hazy tonic, grain alcohol and a mess of other questionable beverages he had been fooling with.

He was tired of having to remember if it was two or three knockes you had to make on the back door or whether you were supposed to say "Benny sent me," or "I'm a friend of Tony's." Favorite bootleggers were being bumped off or locked up so fast that a fellow had been keeping many acquaintances all the time and pay plenty if he hoped to maintain his reputation as a regular guy and a good host.

Those opposed to repeal predicted all kinds of dire results and pictured old Mr. Sam as all washed up and a total loss. But the economic situation being what it was at the time, led the old man to believe that it could not get much worse anywhere, with millions out of work and gangsters running things, so he figured if he was doomed to die he might as well go ahead and enjoy the experience.

Now that 20 years have passed it might be a good time to stop and count our change. Not discounting the ill-effects of liquor, we must admit that the country is a lot better off today than it was in 1933.

The story of repeal is intertwined with the story of national recovery. It is the story of an industry that, starting from insignificant beginnings, grew into an employer of 1,200,000 people and an indirect employer of hundreds of thousands more in over 400 supplying industries.

It is the story of a new industry that grew from a capitalization of a mere $180,000 to more than $9 billion. And it's the story of an industry that has produced, by controlled and orderly sale of its products, total public revenue of over $43,000,000,000.

Of even greater significance are the changes repeal made in the social scene. The evil hypocrisy of prohibition was ended. The lure of the forbidden, the floundering sport of uncontrolled and excessive drinking were ended.

What repeal has brought to Florida from both an economic and social standpoint is summed up by J. R. Hunter, our State Beverage Director in these words:

"Economically there can be no doubt but that the alcoholic beverage industry is one of the bulwarks in the financial structure of our state. Socially, repeal has placed the manufacture, distribution and sale of these beverages under the supervision of duly constituted authorities. These authorities, along with their supervision of this legal industry, have directed their efforts against those engaged in moonshining and bootlegging operations and have greatly curtailed their activities."

During the 20 years since the Repeal of Prohibition, the State of Florida has reaped $228,402, $18,084 in additional public revenue from alcoholic beverages, and this money has been used for such agencies as schools, hospitals and old age benefits.

Excessive taxation, which takes 36 percent of the price of distilled spirits, has reached a point where the moonshiner and bootlegger can again afford to take the risk and operate at a profit and it is a sobering thought that the bootlegger, not deserving careful study by both national and local lawmakers.

STETSON LAW SCHOOL GETS NEW QUARTERS AS GIFT IN ST. PETE

Stetson University has accepted from public spirited citizens of St. Petersburg and out-of-state friends gift of the unrestricted title to a million-dollar campus where a fully accredited College of Law will be opened, next September in the Sunshine City.

The Stetson College of Law, the oldest in Florida, has been on the Deland campus since it was founded in 1891 in the request of the Florida bar.

Dr. J. Ollie Edmunds, Stetson president, said the four main buildings and several smaller structures of early Spanish monastery architecture, erected in 1927 as a resort hotel, are adequate for classrooms, offices and living quarters for the opening in September.

Stetson plans what probably will be one of the most interesting law centers in America—one patterned after the famous legal "inns" of England, where students and faculty members live and study together. Addition of a model library and courtroom—approximately $300,000 wardrobe; for male or female. The third prize will be planned.

The Stetson program includes a plan to invite prominent American lawyers to St. Petersburg as "guests-in-residence" to live at the Stetson law center and to lecture to the students as visiting professors. On the campus are recreational facilities such as tennis courts and a swimming pool. An 18-hole golf course is just across the street.

Removal from Deland of the law school will be the College of Liberal Arts, the School of Music and the graduate division of Stetson University.

Removal from Deland of the law school, came after a committee of law school alumni recommended to the university's trustees that the Stetson College of Law could serve better in a metropolitan area. In a city, the students will have the advantages of more courts and more law offices where they may receive apprenticeship training.

THREE HOUR TALENT SEARCH OVER WIRE

Friday night, Dec. 18 the Palm Beaches will witness and hear the first simulcast, giant telethon ever conducted in this area, through the cooperation of television station WIRK-TV and radio station WIRK.

A mammoth three-hour talent search will be conducted. This talent search is in connection with the Rosarian Academy Scholarship Drive, which is designed to provide free scholarships for deserving girls of high school age. The talent search will be conducted in the form of a contest under the supervision of the Broadway producer-director and producing director of the Palm Beach Play House, Paul Crabtree.

The winner of the talent search will receive an all-expense round-trip one week's vacation in New York City for two, and appointments for auditions for the principal television and radio shows are being arranged for, during the winner's visit to New York. The second prize is a complete $300.00 wardrobe; for male or female. The third prize will be an all-expense, one-week holiday for two.

The first auditions will be held on Saturday, Dec. 12 from 10:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. on the stage of the Paramount Theater in Palm Beach. Any singer, dancer, musician, or novelty act of any and all ages and from any town or city in Florida, may audition. No application is necessary. Contestants are to come to the Paramount on the day. From these first auditions 24 finalists will be selected to appear on the simulcast radio and TV broadcast on Dec. 18. Contestants may bring their own accompanists or an accompanist will be on hand if needed.

The final winners will be selected by the listening audience by calling in their votes during the three-hour program. This entire activity is being conducted by prominent laymen of greater Palm Beach to provide educational opportunities for deserving girls of all faiths.

DRIVING SCHOOLS TO BE LICENSED IN FLA. JAN. 1

A 1953 legislative act, which regulates the licensing of commercial driving schools, goes into effect next January 1 and makes Florida the third state to enact such a law.

The Florida Department of Public Safety is charged with the administration of the law which is designed to protect the public against unqualified commercial driving school operators and to unify the procedure of teaching methods.

Director H. N. Kirkman of the department said recently that all commercial driving school operators in the state are asked to send in a list of any school or schools that they operate so that preliminary meetings might be arranged before the issuance of permits is begun.

In the past, commercial operators had been required only to purchase an occupational license without any strict qualification requirement. The law was enacted chiefly through the instigation and insistence of commercial schools who want to eliminate any preying on the public by unqualified operators.

The new law requires a $10 application fee, and another $15 at the time the department issues a certificate which will entitle the holder to a year's operation. Annual renewals will be at the rate of $25.00. New York was the first state to enact such a law and in 1933 Pennsylvania became second 10 years later.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS PLAN BY NAT'L SAFETY COUNCIL

To prevent the reckless spending of lives every Christmas, the National Safety Council in Chicago today called on Americans to join in a nationwide Christmas savings plan to stop needless deaths.

The Council's yuletide ledger shows a loss of 740 lives, from all accidents, during the Christmas holidays last year — and the toll of 550 lives in traffic was the highest on record.

"It is time," Ned H. Dearborn, Council president, said, "for America to start saving — and stop squandering — lives. If every American will join this Christmas savings plan before the Christmas holidays, a real yuletide mornus—human life — will be paid."

The Council suggests four safety measures for Christmas pleasures:

1. Start automobile trips early and take it easy. Be extremely cautious in bad weather and darkness. Watch out for pedestrians.
2. Keep Christmas trees in water and away from fire. Be sure electrical and electrical connections are in good condition.
3. Watch out for falls, at home and away from home. Be wary of icy sidewalks. Falls are second only to traffic as accident killers.
4. Be moderate in drinking, and don't drive if you have been drinking. Tipped pedestrians and drinking drivers are most common during the holidays.

Less than one-seventh of all U. S. commercial farms take up nearly half the total farmland. The one-seventh, however, produces over half of the total farm income, according to a research conducted by the Ohio Farm Bureau recently.

You can have a proud dad, son, or husband, if you'll give him a Remington automatic shotgun to hunt with during the holidays. Remington-Union Hardware Store, Belle Glade, 12-18-53.

Recommended control of wireworm and other soil pests ... on all Florida vegetable crops

adrin

LAST YEAR adrin established a fine record of soil pest control on Florida corn, sugar cane and sweet potatoes. Now adrin is recommended by Florida Experiment Stations for use on every important vegetable crop in the state.

Adrin gives you these important control advantages:

1. Powerful killing action—all-season freedom from soil pest damage with just one application.
2. Chemical stability—Adrin remains stable regardless of the pH of the soil (acid or alkaline). This stability holds even when adrin is mixed with fertilizer.
3. Can be used two ways—in an adrin-fertilizer mix, or sprayed directly on the ground and harrowed in.
4. Low poisons cost—a direct result of adrin's high killing power.

So—for healthy crops get adrin. Your fertilizer or insecticide dealer can supply you.

Added Power, Performance Mark Chevrolet

The two-toned four-door sedan in the "210" Series typifies the new beauty and animation of the Chevrolet line for 1954. The "210" Series is one of three offered by the company in an array of 13 body models.

Added power and chassis improvements, extension of the Powerglide automatic transmission, new interior and luxurious new interiors in striking color harmonies are a few of the principal features.

lifts but to make all parts stronger and more durable. Hydraulic valve lifters have been redesigned for more reliable operation. A composite camshaft drive gear, having an aluminum alloy ring, a synthetic rubber insulator and cast alloy iron hub, replaces the ball-bearing and fabric gear with steel hub. XCR alloy steel is utilized for exhaust valves for greater strength at high temperatures and resistance to scaling and pitting.

A new cast alloy iron camshaft in the "125" has greater resistance to twisting at higher speeds. More strength is built into rocker shafts by a reduction in the diameter attachment holes at each end. A cast alloy iron distributor drive gear replaces the former steel type to reduce wear on the camshaft.

Another mechanical improvement in the Blue Flame "125" is applied to prevent stalling following cold starts. To allow for heavy acceleration demands during warm-up, the thermostat spring in the automatic choke has been stiffened and the vacuum piston increased in diameter.

The Blue Flame "115" engine introduces into the so-called standard power train such features as full-pressure lubrication, aluminum pistons, insert-type connecting rod bearings and a more rigid crankshaft and connecting rods. As true of the "125", displacement is 235 cubic inches with the engine reaching 115 horsepower at 5700 rpm. Compression ratio lists at 7.5 to 1. Better economy and smoother, quieter operation are characteristics.

Smoother acceleration is provided by a carburetor change to afford a better balance in fuel mixture. The result is a double step in the fuel valve into the carburetor power in mixture during changing load conditions.

The new clutch assembly which Chevrolet has engineered for gearshift models has smoother operation and greater reliability. In the previous design the pressure plate was driven from the clutch cover by three lugs. With the re-engineering of the part, the lugs are replaced by three equally spaced, spring straps. The straps are riveted to the cover assembly and bolted to the pressure plate. Since the binding of the slots is now eliminated, the pressure plate always makes a full pressure contact with the driven plate for transfer of torque to the drive train.

Also in gearshift models changes have been incorporated in the synchro-mesh transmission for increased durability and roughness. All gears are now shot-peened after hardening and needle bearings have been introduced on the counter gear shaft.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Christmas

The earth has grown old with its burden of care.

But at Christmas it always is young.

Phillips Brooks

I have always thought of Christmas time as a good time, a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time; the only time of the year when men and women seem by one consent to open their shut-in hearts freely.

— Charles Dickens.

At this immortal hour, all human hearts rejoice, the great God should bow and declare Charles's power, and the reign of Truth and Life divine should make man's being pure and blessed.

— Mary Baker Eddy.

Heep on more wood! — the wife who said:

"But it's white as it will. We'll keep our Christmas merry still."

— Sir Walter Scott.

And if you keep it for a day, why not always?

But you can never keep it alone.

— Henry van Dyke.

Christmas is the gentlest, lowliest festival of the revolving year—and yet, for all that, when it speaks, its voice has strong authority.

— W. J. Cameron.

EPISCOPAL SERVICE TO K BROADCAST

By a vote of all the congregations of Episcopalians on Lake Okeechobee and by approval of the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Leavitt, D.D., bishop of the diocese of South Florida, the Sunday morning service from St. Martin's Church, Clewiston, will be broadcast one Sunday out of every five, by Station WSWN, Belle Glade. As the station easily reaches all about this area the vicar of Okeechobee and Pahokee, the Rev. M. W. Hainlin, will exchange on certain Sundays with Father Petrie so that each congregation will have a chance to hear his priest preach over the air.

CIGARETTE TAX SHOWS INCREASE FOR OCT.

October's cigarette tax for Florida cities amounted to $1,205,553.77. Of this amount $4,696.48 will be distributed among Glades communities, which shows an increase over September's tax of $1494.48. Belle Glade will receive $4,248.48; Clewiston, $2,005.24; Pahokee $1,776.58 and South Bay $668.20.

STRAWBERRIES BRING $130 FOR TOM WATSON FUND

A quart of strawberries given by Mrs. A. L. Catin to Tom Watson brought a $130 for the Tom Watson Missionary Fund. The berries offered at a Dutch Auction at the South Bay Growers last Saturday with buyers among the lake area participating went to Mrs. Beverly P. Pinkham.

Last year a quart given by Mrs. Harry Smith brought $115, and was auctioned for the same fund. Mr. Smith announces that in January she will have berries for sale, the proceeds to go to various missions.

60 SECOND SERMONS

by Fred Dodge

TEXT: "It is much easier to be critical than correct."

Pat and Mike were talking. Pat saw a duck far overhead, gave it a look, and to his delight saw the bird wheel over and fall heavily to the ground.

"You sure wanted that shot, Pat," Mike said playfully.

Pat was astonished, "an' how is that? Sure an' I got the bird, did I not?"

"Yes," said Mike, "but the fall would have killed him."

Some folks live, as though they were just a series of everything. They spall through life pointing out what is wrong with the accomplishments of others. Ask about their achievements and you find that they haven't had time to create anything themselves.

We are reminded that Addison said, "It is ridiculous for any man to criticize the works of another if he has not distinguished himself by his own performance."

Each of us has our own problems. We would be shallow critics without them. When criticism is rejected because we have a skill that makes our opinion of value, give it helpfully — not habitually. The habitual critic makes us wonder what he is trying to cover by taking pleasure in pointing out other's shortcomings.

WASHINGTON
NEWS LETTER

One of my principal concerns of the past year has been the attitude of the new administration toward small business.

As a member of the Senate

Small Business Committee, I have come to know and understand many of the problems facing the independent single industry and business in Florida and throughout the nation. It was for this reason that I fought in the past session of the Congress for adequate laws to protect the U. S. business pattern which is distinguished by the right every man has to look forward to being his own boss. It is but a straw in the wind, but I want to report the response I have from the new Small Business Administration to the letter I wrote about in my newsletter last week. Dwight Entwistle, regional director, has assured me that a Florida office is to be opened soon. He added:

"The flood of loan inquiries from Florida has been tremendous in the last few weeks and will necessitate an adequate staff in Florida in the near future... as a resident of Florida and formerly conducting a small business on the east Coast, I am not only greatly interested in the state but keenly aware of the great potential there in the small business administration program."

Cotton, Cattle, Citrus: Hardly a day passes but we are engaged in helping with some farm problems. Are seeking to add five counties (Orange, Ocoee, Volusia, Lake, Polk) to the list for the emergency feed program. Also have Dept. of Ag. working to unravel complications which developed in the program regarding shipping of mixed and/or straight feed. Have protested to Sec. of Ag. Florida's drastic cut in the 1954 cotton acreage allotment program (65,000 acres cut to 33,125). Give Gordon Sledman a hand in attempting to work out fruit and vegetable shipping facilities problems with ICC.

Newsnotes off the cuff. Many letters from friends saying how good it was to renew old campaign friendships at Miami Beach last weekend. It was great for me too. Next week I am concluding my 100-day post-session Florida tour during which I have made 150 appearances (speeches to you); final will be at Jacksonville Dec. 16 at 50th anniversary of the Duval Medical Association. My staff gave a hand to "Operation Santa Claus" staged by John Jones at Tampa recently and furnished the clue for the means to get transportation of various goods contributed to Korean needy children.

Colombades Headquarters for Sailfish Tournament

More than four-score of the world's leading light-tackle anglers will arrive in West Palm Beach this weekend for the Ninth annual International Sailfish tournament which gets underway for three days starting Dec. 8.

The tournament this year is attracting teams from Rhode Island to Panama Canal Zone, from Hawaii to the Bahama Islands.

This will be the second time in three years that ace big game fishing enthusiasts have congregated in the Palm Beach for this international angling contest to try their skill in this area's world-famous sailfishing grounds.

This year's event, sponsored by a trio of angling clubs, is under the direction of John Mahony, Miami, president of the International Sailfish Tournament Association, and John Rybovich, Jr., West Palm Beach, local tournament committee chairman.

With the opening of this competition still days away, several three-man teams already are scouting the nearby Gulfstream fishing grounds. Others will be arriving daily, and when the official competition gets underway, some 30 or more teams will be offshore battling for Florida's famous sailfish.

Anglers will fish for two days, Dec. 8 and 9; take a breather on Dec. 10 when the ladies take their crack at the sailfish and the men then wind up the tourney on Dec. 11.

Sections represented by teams thus far registered include

Bahamas, Canada, Puerto Rico,

Panama, Hawaii, Bahamas Islands, Cuba, and teams from New York to California. Both New York and California are sending large team delegations. Cuba, represented for the first time this year, is sending two three-man teams.

Theme of the tournament again will be conservation. Few sails, except for outstanding catches for special prizes, will actually be hoisted and brought to the dock. To encourage anglers to free their fish, sails released alive at the end of a fight will mean more points for both team and individual angler than sails which are hoisted on the 30-odd top-notch cruisers selected for this sporty event.

Headquarters for the tournament this year will be the Colonnades Hotel on Palm Beach Shores, one of this section's newest and most beautiful resort settlements.

CHILDREN'S HOME HAVING TROUBLE MEETING NEEDS

The Children's Home Society, for several years located at 1840 Oceola Street, will move on December 3rd to 2027 San Diego Road, occupying one of the buildings at the Jacksonville Receiving Home. The property on Oceola Street will be sold and the money placed in the reserve fund of the Society, which is being used by month to month to meet the deficit costs of operation due to increased demands and higher expenses, as experienced by every business these days. It has been possible to reorganize the functions in the Jacksonville Receiving Home so as to make one of the buildings available for headquarters and at the same time provide adequate service for the children.

At the present time the Society has approximately 165 children in Receiving Home and boarding homes throughout the State, and an additional 246 in adoptive homes, making slightly more than 400 under the care or general supervision of the Society day by day. Efforts are being made to interview promptly the very large backlog of couples who have applied to get children. At the present time there are more than 340 such applications, with the possibility of providing only about 150 to 180 children in the next twelve months. Efforts are also being made to modify procedures so that within the near future studies of applicants can be made within ninety days of application, with the hope that the placement of a child can be made within nine to twelve months after approval of an application.

The demand is still greater than the supply and in a way this is good for it indicates a more satisfactory solution in the social problem as far as the needs of neglected and abandoned children are concerned.

The Society is constantly working to care for all of the needy children referred to it, even those who are not adoptable for some physiological reason who are definitely placed on temporary care by the Courts. For the rest, it will do its utmost to arrange for adoption at the earliest possible moment.

QUAIL HUNTING: — some time back I promised a report on a quail hunt (opening day) in particular, and on the quail hunting in general. Let's start with the general situation. I find quail extremely plentiful. Covies so large that if you tell people how many birds are in covey they'll simply say, "What were you drinking?" or similar humor. On the other hand, these covies, large and small, have had a way of hiding pretty successfully from hunters since the opening days of the quail season. Every hunter I've talked with to date tells the same story. Lots of quail around early, and plenty still left, but the birds are hard to find. Even during the past few days, on Dec. 10th to be exact, I've come on large covies of quail which are still quite tame, but the birds have a way of being able to take care of themselves. Most shooters have a way of becoming terribly excited when the bob whistles go up. They then, as a rule, shoot far under the birds, to say nothing of, at times, both under and well to one side! I'd say not 5 per cent of the quail covey has been bagged by hunters to date.

The opening day on quail proved a flop, just as the opening day on ducks had been a fine success. I was hunting with a man who does not need to be mentioned by name, but his prize dog, "Ruby," was the cause of the really comical hunt which we got on that day. The dog, "Ruby," had been highly recommended and, no doubt, at home they played that song, "Ruby" on the phonograph to emphasize what a fine dog this pointer was. Anyhow, come opening day we went out with "Ruby," the jewel, the prized possession, the dog with the nose for quail and the ability to find them and to hold the point. What a surprise we had in store. "Ruby's" owner finally found a covey of quail himself—the bird numbered around 64 by count, as they slowly crossed the little country road. We put "Ruby" into the picture, or tried to, but "Ruby" refused to go ahead and point the quail. Finally the lap dog did blunder into the covey. The owner of the pooch got in one shot, whereupon "Ruby" took off down that country road at a clip which would undoubtedly break all running records at any dog track. Her owner, fast on the trigger, then turned the gun on "Ruby," the wonderful quail dog. Some of the vines must have caught up with her, for poor Ruby did the mile-down that country road, in almost nothing flat. I would not myself shoot at a dog, no matter what, but this is the story of "Ruby" and the famous quail hunt, opening day. The dog turned up, after an hour's hunt—and that was the end of the day as far as quail went. A dog, surely, whose price is not "beyond rubies."

INCOME FROM REAL ESTATE AFFECTS SOCIAL SECURITY

Inquiries received from local residents indicate a need for an explanation of the Social Security Law regarding income received from the rental of real estate. R. C. Gehlken, Jr., manager of the West Palm Beach Social Security office said recently:

"In general," Mr. Gehlken said, "income received from the rental of real estate is not covered by the Social Security Law and is not taxable as self-employment income for social security purposes. This applies to rent from apartments, a private home, or commercial property."

"There are, however, two exceptions to this general rule. If a person is a real estate dealer, rentals from real estate are covered as self-employment income. Thus, a person who buys and sells real estate for the profit he makes on the resale must report this income and pay the social security tax on it. A person who buys and holds real estate as an investment does not report this income on his annual social security report nor pay the social security tax on it."

"The other exception pertains to payments received for rooms or other space where personal services are rendered to the occupant. For instance, payments received for board and room are covered by the Social Security Law. Also, if maid service is provided for the occupant, the payments received are covered by the law."

Anyone having questions concerning the social security status of income received from property may contact the West Palm Beach Social Security office, located at 501 North Olive Avenue.

Folks! why don't you come out and visit our Municipal Golf Course. Just driving by you can't see all the improvements that have been made in the last few weeks.

The Club house is fairly beaming. The porches are so epic and span and look so inviting since their new paint job. The chimney has a red paint job and all the paneling looks like new in the club room.

The course looks beautiful, new shrubbery and trees have been planted and the other trees and bushes trimmed, the fairways are in good shape and the greens are ready for play. Flag poles have been painted and new flags have been added, also new tee balls.

This community should be proud to have a place to enjoy parties, play golf or just visit. You'll have time to get out for that golf game during the holidays, and being your friends. Be seeing you!

Why not give your family a golf membership for Christmas or for him a single membership? Single $30 or family $50, for the year 1954.

People of this area visiting Miami will have the opportunity of hearing some of the outstanding choirs of the Miami area singing in the evenings at the Holsum Baking Company's plant in South Miami.

The public is invited to see the gigantic Christmas display, an annual event at the Holsum plant, and hear the beautiful choir music.

The big display, measuring 54 feet across and 24 feet high, will be unveiled Saturday evening, Dec. 19 and remain through Jan. 3. Famous choirs of the Miami area will sing at the display from 8 to 9 p.m. as follows:

Sat., Dec. 19, South Miami Baptist Church; Mon., Dec. 21, Miami Lutheran Church; Tues., Dec. 22, First Presbyterian Church of Coral Gables;

Wed., Dec. 23, Mt. Olive Baptist Church; Sat., Dec. 26, University Baptist Church; Sun., Dec. 27, South Miami Methodist Church; Mon., Dec. 28, St. Thomas Episcopal Church;

Tues., Dec. 29, Sylvan Heights Baptist Church; Wed., Dec. 30, Coral Gables Methodist Church; Sat., Jan. 2, Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

On evenings when choirs will not be present, organ recitals will be given by Mrs. Martha Horton from 8 to 9 p.m.

Last year the beautiful Holsum Christmas display drew over 85,000 visitors. The display, different this year and of unusual nature, is expected to draw even more people, because of the choice music which has been added. A total of 270 singers will be heard in the choirs.

On Christmas Eve, the display will be held from 8 to 9 p.m. in the Community Clubhouse.

The Garden Club held a business meeting Monday at the Community Clubhouse.

Judging of the Christmas lighting contest will be held Tues. night at 7 o'clock. Those participating should have displays ready at that time. Three judges from the local club will be the judges of the commercial contest and three out of town judges for the home exhibits. There will be prizes for each class.

JIMMIE JR. ACTIVE IN MILITARY SOCIETY LIFE AT F.L.A. STATE

Word has been received here that James Ball, Jr., has been appointed as Chairman of the Invitations Committee of the annual Military Ball to be given at the Florida State University on January 6th.

The military ball will be the highlight of the cold social season and will feature music by the Auburn Knights dance band from Auburn University.

The record of the National Rifle Association proves without question that shooting is the safest of sports. An accident on the range is almost unknown.

In our thirty-year-old Junior program, involving almost two-and-a-half million youngsters, there are only two recorded accidents. Our more recent Hunter Safety program has proven again that the answer to accidents in the field lies in education instead of in prohibition.

Supervised training, safety education, gun ownership, cornerstones in the traditions of the National Rifle Association of America. They are cornerstones, too, of our American Heritage, playing a major part in the winning and the defense of our nation. These three — training, education, ownership — will serve any boy faithfully and safely so long as he may live.

Instead of denying his boy the rifle he wants this year, the wise father will give it to him. At the same time he will see to it that the boy is properly taught to respect it. Herein lies the answer to "A Boy and His Rifle."

In giving a rifle to any boy, the parents assume an obligation to him and a responsibility to their community which go far beyond mere hours of shooting and "don'ts." For we must admit that a rifle can be dangerous if placed in the hands of an eager, untrained and careless boy.

On the other hand, if parents will assume the moral obligation of seeing to it that the very beginning of the boy's rifle life is properly taught the rules of safe gun handling, their gift will bring to him untold hours of wholesome recreation in the field or on the range.

It is when this obligation has not been met that tragedy sometimes follows the gift of a rifle. Unfortunately, the general reaction when this happens is to blame the rifle instead of placing the responsibility where it really belongs.

One of the most popular television and radio shows is Jack Webb's "Dragnet." As an annual December event this coast-to-coast program features the story of a nine-year-old boy who accidentally shoots his pal with a rifle which he was to receive as a Christmas present. It is a story of tragedy, dramatically and effectively presented.

The theme points up the fact that the tragedy need not have happened. While we agree with the theme, we emphatically reject "Dragnet's" concluding slogan — "Don't give your boy a rifle," as the right solution.

In reaching his conclusion, the author fails to face the realities of life. Sooner or later almost every boy will be numbered among the fourteen million people who obtain a license to hunt each year. If that boy has been denied the privilege of owning a rifle and the opportunity of being taught how to use it properly, he is indeed a menace to himself and his fellow hunters when he takes to the field unacquainted with the weapon he carries.

Every boy today, upon attaining age of eighteen years, must register with his Selective Service Board, liable for service in one of the Armed Forces.

Over a million of our youth entered the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard during the past twelve months. Approximately the same number will enter the Services in the year ahead. Each one of them will have a rifle placed in his hands. How well he uses it in defense of his own life, as in Korea, or in the defense of our country, depends in large measure upon his having owned and learned how to use a rifle as a boy.

In the trying times in which we live, the ownership of a rifle and the knowledge of how to use it are part of the necessities of our way of life.

The "Dragnet" program is recognized for the good it does in alerting citizens to the social and moral problems which exist in the United States. Its pro## gram on automobile safety is so widely acclaimed that the National Safety Council distributes copies of its TV version.

Both the boy and his rifle story and the automobile safety story are told in a similar fashion. Each is a tragedy caused by the ignorance and carelessness of the person involved. But there is this difference: "Dragnet" does not end the automobile story with a slogan, "Don't give your boy an automobile."

Instead, it emphasizes the necessity for driver education, so that every boy and girl will handle a car intelligently and with safety to himself and to others.

"Dragnet" should reach a similar conclusion in its boy and rifle program. The rifle, like an automobile, is an inanimate object incapable within itself of harming anyone. Each can be safe, or dangerous, depending entirely upon how well, or how poorly trained, is the person who handles it.

The record of the National Rifle Association proves without question that shooting is the safest of sports. An accident on the range is almost unknown.

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

By Melvin T. Dixon
State Service Officer

GI Loan Entitlement of Veterans with Dual War Service.

A World War II-and-Korea veteran, who bought a home with WW II GI Bill entitlement and later sold it, is eligible for a new loan under the Korea GI Bill even though the first property is sold under an installment sale contract whereby he retains title to the dwelling until the final payment.

This is the interpretation of Public Law 550, The Korea GI Bill, permitting a veteran to acquire new GI loan entitlement through Korea military service, provided he has disposed of the original GI property and has not been indebted to the VA because of it.

The question had arisen whether a veteran actually disposes of the property if it is sold outright . . . if the contract of sale preserves his title to it until the new owner completes payment. Such disposition is legally proper, and meets FL 550 requirements.

Disposing of the first property is one of the things a two-war veteran must do if he wants to use his Korea service eligibility for a second purchase. In addition he must not have incurred indebtedness to the VA by reason of his first GI loan.

If such a debt exists, the veteran's entitlement based on Korea service is reduced by the amount of that indebtedness.

Indebtedness to the VA means actual liability existing on the date the new loan application is received by the VA, resulting from default of the veteran or of the person who assumed his GI loan. Indebtedness is not created by this possibility that the VA might have to make good his guarantee of the first property at some later date.

Therefore, it is legally proper in determining available entitlement of veterans under Public Law 550 to consider the veteran as having disposed himself of the ownership of real property acquired with World War II entitlement when such real property has been sold under an installment sale contract.

SIX MEDICAL FORUMS DURING JAN. AND FEB.

It is possible to have Polio a second time? How soon can Polio be detected? These and many other questions have come in for the first Free Medical Forum to be held January 12th, in the Palm Beach High School auditorium.

The county Medical Society and County Health Department are co-sponsoring six medical forums in January and February. The topics for the forums have been selected by Dr. C. M. Harris, Chairman of the Forum Committee. They include, "Living with your Corns," "When to suspect Cancer," "Behavior Problems in Children," "Asthma and the Allergies," and "Growing old Gracefully."

Dr. George W. Dawson is moderator for the forum on "Progress in Polio." In commenting, Dr. Dawson stated, "This is a subject which bears deep study and should be well understood by the public. From the number of questions sent in from which we will make a selection, we are assured of having a very informative forum."
